Portrait

Dr. Simone Burel is managing partner of LUB GmbH – Linguistische Unternehmensberatung, which owns the brands diversity company and Fairlanguage. She is one of the most distinguished experts on neurodiversity, inclusive language and antidiscrimination in Germany. She has received several awards for her research and practical work, including the City of Mannheim's most prestigious business award.

Simone Burel is a columnist, author and editor of the book series "Sprache & Wirtschaft" (Language & Business) as well as an advisory board member to the trade magazine "Diversity in Recht & Wirtschaft" (Diversity in Law & Business). The second edition of her handbook "Neurodiversity in the World of Work: Why Decision-Makers Need Neurodivergent Employees" will be published in fall 2025. Her vision is a research-based, socially compatible economy with an ethical impact – for a more peaceful, fair and empathetic world of cooperation.
